"Why didn't I think of that?" presents that will make sure your good impression lasts long after the weekend is over.

EN PLEIN AIR

Year-round sunshine makes Palm Beach a living lab for outdoor entertaining. As those in cooler climes dig into the summer season, the Florida estate of a New York-based designer offers inspiration: a gazebo transformed into an open-air dining room with all the elegance of one indoors and a glorious sound track of a sea breeze blowing through the trees.

A latticed gazebo worthy of Elsie de Wolfe beckons diners into the sun-dappled garden.

Wicker chairs make china and bamboo-handled flatware feel fabulously casual.
